WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27, 1875.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

A very destructive fire occurred at Virginia City, Nevada, yesterday.

Police's statue of Stonewall Jackson will be unveiled at Richmond, Va., to-day.

A Washington special says it is reported that General Belknap is the leading candidate for United States Senator in Iowa.

The New York tide of state politics is at its full height. Numerous meetings were held last night by the various political organizations, and all the preparations are being made for a heated campaign. The contest between Tammany and anti-Tammany in the city promises to be full of acrimony and misrepresentation.

At Dundas, Ontario, yesterday, a young man named Borer, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head.

The Prince of Wales has reached Cairo.

The Carlist leader, Mendiz, has notified the Spanish Consul of Bayonne of his recognition of King Alfonso.

A special telegraph from Santander states that Don Carlos, with Gen. Perola and 10,000 men, occupies an entrenched position Northward of Pampeluna.

Hon. Von Maestre, Minister of the German Empire at Buenos Ayres, has been transferred to Mexico.

The Emperor William has returned to Berlin.

The Russian Commission on the Centennial has determined to limit the list of articles to be exhibited at Philadelphia to Russian specialties which are little known abroad. Nevertheless they are confident of making a creditable display.

A Montreal dispatch of yesterday says the garrison artillery and the Prince of Wales attended the funeral of a late volunteer to the Protestant cemetery yesterday. The French Canadians supposed that Githford's funeral was about to take place and swarmed to the cemetery by thousands. Several fights took place and much bad feeling was exhibited.

A dispatch from San Domingo, Hayti, states that political affairs are tranquil, but that the financial condition is deplorable. The Secretary of the Treasury has indicated to Congress that the Republic is in a state of bankruptcy. A heavy shock of earthquake has been felt throughout the city. Thirty-six political prisoners, implicated in the late riot, arrived from Puerto Plata.

Mr. Burling is to be appointed Superintendent of the new Custom House at Chicago.

The hard money convention which was to be held at Cincinnati does not take place.

The President has appointed Hon. Alex. S. Johnson Judge of the Second Judicial District of the United States, comprising the States of New York, Connecticut and Vermont, in place of Judge Woodruff, deceased.

A Portland, Oregon, dispatch announces the election of Lane, Democratic nominee for Congress, by 1,200 majority.

A fire at Reno, Nevada, on Monday, destroyed property to the amount of $25,000.

The President yesterday received the new Chilean and Austrian Ministers.

BECAUSE Santa Monica gave FITZGERALD forty majority over CARR, the San Bernardino Guardian says it is bound to be a prosperous place.

A lady writes to the Santa Barbara News that she knew GEORGE M. PRINCE the defaulter, when he was a Baptist clergyman and stood well in the community.

THE Western Development Company have ordered a large amount—a great many thousand tons—of steel rail to be used on the Southern Pacific road East of San Geronimo Pass. The company correctly anticipate that as their road progresses Eastward the demand on its carrying capacity will be very great and they intend to meet this demand as far as possible by building a first class track. When thirty miles more of road is ready to operate the trade and travel of all Arizona and Northern Mexico will pass over it.

IT never rains but it pours. The financial depression is followed by a conflagration at the very mouths of the tunnels from which we are drawing our recuperating wealth. Virginia City, Nevada, is in ashes. As yet we know not the full extent of the damage, but enough is known to warrant the statement that the loss is immense. Many rich men are made poor and the effect on the masses cannot be but disastrous. One day the wires tell us that the principle mines are filling with water and the next they flash the intelligence that the city around those mines is consumed by fire. Aside from the vast individual loss it seems certain that the great mining corporations have suffered severely. If from the mass of news at hand we can approximate the immense loss, the conclusion is inevitable that the money market of San Francisco which had begun to show approach to an easy stage, will at once relapse to its former stringency and pressure from which we fancied we were about to be relieved, will still weigh as heavily and for a much longer period.

Who killed FITZGERALD? is the question which the Sacramento Record, the Oakland News and the San Francisco Chronicle are trying to decide. Each one claims that with its little quill it stabbed him to death. There can be no doubt but that either of the three deliberately and willingly published a sufficient number of falsehoods about the defeated gentleman to have crushed the nine lives out of a cat. But that either or all of them contributed one iota to the political death of Mr. FITZGERALD we do not believe. The general and wide spread belief that Mr. CARR's expulsion from the state University was unwarranted and unjust, was, in our opinion the chief cause of his election. The people regarded him as a wronged and abused man and when such an impression prevails concerning a candidate, politics and all other considerations give place to the one idea of repairing the wrong. Opposition papers were active and unscrupulous in their attacks on Mr. FITZGERALD, but their well known reputation for falsehood and slander so neutralized their efforts that they neither lost nor gained him votes.

Political Strategy.

Something is going to happen. In the dim far off future a speck of war not larger than a man's hand is discernible. An act of justice which has been tardy and long coming seems about to be performed. For years the patriots of Cuba have struggled to free themselves from the mother government and assume an independence which all the world save Spain tacitly acknowledge as their right. The United States—the greatest Republic the sun shines on—should have been the first to stretch forth the hand of assistance to this little band of struggling patriots. But it was withheld, not because the people were not in deep sympathy with the cause of freedom and self government but because the powers at Washington were so far from representing the wishes of the masses that they were under the control of the bond holders who would not consent to the depreciation of their bonds which would follow the declaration of war on the part of Spain. It was a humiliating position. The great Republic with its forty million liberty lovers was forced to stand by and watch the prolonged struggle for freedom of a people whose home is almost within the shadow of the Stars and Stripes, but the will of the bond holders was the power behind the throne—a power more powerful than the throne itself. Now another power more powerful than the bond holder's—the power which comes of party existence and individual grandeur—has overthrown the old dynasty and justice is about to be dealt from a questionably honest tribunal. From Washington come rumors that the President is turning his attention to the Cuban contest; that a large number of our war vessels are concentrating at a point from which it will be easy to move them to the coasts and harbors of the Queen of the Antilles; that in his message to Congress the President will urge the immediate recognition of the Cuban insurgents as belligerents. This will arouse Spain. Our next step forward will be a declaration of war and inauguration of a contest which will end in the annexation of Cuba to the United States. This is the effect. The cause is political. GRANT'S ambition towers to the clouds. He has no thought of abandoning the Presidential chair and the acquisition of Cuba is the hobby on which he hopes to ride through the approaching campaign. He has said that contingencies might arise which would render the election of a President to the third or fourth term a necessity. A state of war is doubtless one of the exigencies to which he alluded. If in November of next year we are involved in a war with Spain, the argument that we should re-elect the President who inaugurated and is prosecuting the war, will have a weight that no other combination of circumstances could bring about and which we may reasonably fear all other arguments will not overcome.

Insanity.

This malady is on the increase in all civilized countries. The fact is appalling, but nevertheless it is true. There is no sight presented to humanity so sad as a man or woman with the mind overthrown. DE QUINCY declares: "All Babylon overthrown is not so sad a sight." Although much has been done by humanitarians and science during the last fifty years to alleviate the sufferings of those afflicted with this malady, the very thought of the horrors of a mad-house unsettles the nerves of the strongest man. And the margin or dividing line between sanity and insanity is so narrow that it puzzles the most scientific minds to determine where one ends and the other begins. But narrow as this margin is, thousands are daily walking upon it, some consciously and some unconsciously. It would surprise any one to know how many are secretly fighting off this demon and yet give no sign of it to their friends. It is a hidden warfare which they fear to divulge lest their fortune or their families should suffer by it. This is wrong. Almost every man has had experience of mental phenomena which alarms him, such as loss of memory and power to concentrate his thoughts, inward torture and desperate thoughts of suicide, mental curings and the fires of vengeance, which destroy all power of self-control. Such violent feelings are often followed by a perfect blank of mind and ability to think or investigate any subject for many minutes. Any one suffering with such symptoms should go to his physician and in confidence make known his condition. Insanity is no longer the work of the Devil, but a curable disease, and if patients would throw aside their timidity or false delicacy on this subject and fly in haste to some skillful physician, the asylum would be cheated out of half its subjects and the most terrible human suffering avoided. We meet men every day on the street who are wrestling upon the very borders of insanity. An over-taxed brain, great affliction, a series of disappointments, broken rest, indigestion, any or all of these combined may dethrone the mind. California is full of adventurers, many of whom are doomed to terrible disappointments, and not a few of them to great suffering; hence the overwhelming number now in our State Asylum, which is daily increasing.

Aid For The Sufferers.

One half the people of Virginia City are without homes and thousands of women and children are suffering for food and clothing. With his usual promptitude when suffering is to be alleviated JOHN J. VALENTE, General Superintendent of Wells Fargo & Co., has thrown the forces and facilities of that corporation into the breach, and, as in the case of the Louisiana sufferers, he will soon have money, clothing and provisions in the hands of the relief committee of Virginia City. The appended telegram was received late last evening by Wm. PRIDHAM, Agent of Wells Fargo & Co., in this city, and to-day he and Mr. R. R. HAINES will canvass the city for subscriptions in aid of the homeless and destitute women and children of Virginia City. We need not urge the citizens of Los Angeles to answer their call with a generous response; they have but to know that their aid is needed and their hands are open:

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26th 1875.
To Wm. PRIDHAM, Agent W. F. & Co., Los Angeles, Virginia City, Nevada, has been desolated by fire and thousands of women and children are homeless and destitute and need for relief help. Every California citizen will respond to the cry of that stricken people for assistance. Solicit subscription money, clothing and supplies and forward by express free as soon as received to W. F. & Co., Agents, Virginia City, enclosing a duplicate advice of shipment or remittance to Aaron Stein, San Francisco.

JOHN J. VALENTE, General Superintendent.

The Republic of Mexico.

EDITOR HERALD: In your issue of to-day I observed an advertisement drawing the attention of our citizens to the liberal inducements offered by the Republic of Mexico to bona fide settlers, or, in other words, to such as are willing to become renegades to their own form of government and adapt themselves to conditions which are not as advanced or elevating as their own. But before any persons commit themselves to such a course they ought to make themselves not only familiar with the nature of the country but with the laws which govern it and the characteristics of the people who inhabit it.

We have as a people shown every forbearance with the sister Republic. We desire to see her progress and take her place amongst nations as a Power representing a mighty and invincible principle. So far as our policy has been concerned, we have given her the benefit of our countenance and support, and by our aid snatched her from the rapacious jaws of voracious Imperialism. We have given to her rulers every opportunity to vindicate the majesty of the law, and when our citizens and their country have been violated by bands of desperadoes, we have waited to receive justice at their hands instead of acting as the stronger usually do, by bloody retaliation. We have also watched the almost superhuman efforts of her most liberal patriots to raise their country to a condition of social decency and rid it of the bigotry which centuries of subservience to priestcraft have inflicted on it, and our sympathy has ever been on the side of the weak; but there is a limit to national as well as individual patience, and our duty to public sentiment requires a speedy settlement of the difficulties which exist between the two countries, arising from border raids and lawless maltreatment of offending citizens who invested capital in that country, for out of eighty mines which were owned and worked by American citizens scarcely half a dozen survive the seizures which revolutionary bands have made. And if Mexico desires to be in harmony with the great republic, the ignorant portion of her people must be taught to respect the inviolable rights which belong to all, irrespective of country or creed.

In the absence of such knowledge on the part of its citizens it would be wise for all intending colonists of that country to inquire where they are bound and the ability of the Mexican republic to guarantee the rights and privileges of their manifesto. Land one cent per acre would in many parts of Mexico be valuable, even in the best hands, owing to the feeling of insecurity which prevails in all classes of society. For Mexico in its present condition is ever on the eve of a catastrophe. Jealousy amongst its leaders influences the public mind, and independent as its people may assume to be, nothing but brute force can control minds which have no capacity for reasoning power.

Homes in Lower California, in the absence of communication and markets for consumption, would gradually deteriorate, and their owners sink to the level of the circumstances and conditions which surround them. To the outlaw or to the man who has no social ties to bind him to a progressive form of civilization it is a good place, and to such I say God speed! Go, for there you will find the insecurity and excitement in accordance with your natures. As to the land and its capabilities, I will speak of it anon. But for the present, an revoir.

[From the Argus Oct. 24th.]
There was some trouble about em-pounding horses at Riverside. The difficulty occurred between Elder Wright and Mr. Tibbitts, but nothing serious occurred.

There are now five persons in our jail, one for murder, one for drawing deadly weapons, one for grand larceny, one for stealing money and one working out his fine.

Eight wagons in one train passed along to-day—this is the longest train that has passed through our town.

The popular and efficient paymaster on the S. P. R. R. Major McGee, is winning laurels by his business capacity and energy.

Our town is over run with printers, clerks and portrait painters. Yesterday a portrait painter, and a printer were unable to find employment and started back for Missouri. Other mechanics, such as carpenters, plasterers, bricklayers and blacksmiths, would more readily, we presume, find employment, but we need men who can buy land and improve it.

San Francisco News.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 26th.—California street was thrown into a state of great excitement this morning by telegrams reporting a serious conflagration in Virginia City. There was some talk of suspending the sessions of the Board while the fire was in progress, but at a private meeting of the members it was resolved to go ahead. The market, of course, naturally opened very weak, with more sellers than buyers, and before the closing of the morning hour something akin to a panic in values was manifested. At the Pacific stock exchange there was considerable commotion. The sudden depression it was feared would uncover margins and force the sacrifice of stock to make good the contracts.

The idea of a suspension of business for any length of time was not entertained. This Board and the San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board are not on friendly business terms with each other; hence negotiations to suspend operations are out of the question. The Pacific members think they carried the San Francisco Exchange brokers over the panic and received no thanks for it, and therefore they cannot consent to accept the burden again.

Great Fire at Virginia.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26th.—At 3:15 this morning a fire broke out in Virginia City, on B street, between Union and Taylor, burning continually until after one o'clock this afternoon. All north of Wells, Fargo & Co. and the Tahoe House building, and east of B street is burned down, including the International Hotel, Gillig & Co.'s hardware building, the Post-office, the Virginia Enterprise building, Piper's Opera House, the Railroad Depot, the Consolidated Virginia hoisting works and mill, the Ophir hoisting works, and the Bank of California building, leaving only some isolated dwellings east and north of the burned district. The Gould & Curry shaft is safe. Several men are reported killed. Both the Atlantic and Pacific and the Western Union offices are burned down. Temporary offices are fitted up on dry goods boxes north of town. The water gave out and the fire companies were used up. Some buildings had to be blown up to stop the progress of the flames.

VIRGINIA CITY, October 26th.—At about 6 A. M. to-day a fire broke out in a little house on A street, between Taylor and Main streets. The city from Stewart street to H, and from South of the Bank of California almost to the divide beyond the Ophir, is a ruin—not one house saved. The Consolidated Virginia hoisting works and mill, and also the new stamp mill of the California company, are destroyed. The works at the California and Consolidated shaft, and the mills belonging to them, are saved. The Ophir works are totally destroyed. It is believed the Ophir and Consolidated shafts were secured and saved. All the principal business portion of the town is gone, and very many of the finest residences. A space half a mile by three-fourths is burned over. Two men were killed an hour since by a falling wall. A tremendous gale was blowing all the forenoon, and there was not much that could be done except keep out of the way of the flames. One steamer and the Babcock engine were burned. No estimate can be made of the losses; probably they will reach eight millions of dollars.

Hundreds of people are utterly destitute, and hundreds of men thrown out of employment. The weather threatens a storm and is very cold, and what is to be done with all the people to-night is hard to say.

The Catholic, Presbyterian and Episcopal churches are destroyed, but the other churches and school houses are thrown open for the sufferers. The railroad depot was burned early in the morning. The railroad tunnel on E street is burned out, but trains can come to the old depot. The city authorities and citizens are doing all they can, but the ruin is fearful. The city looks as though it had been blasted by both fire and earthquake. The most ghastly sight in the city is the tremendous machinery of the mills and hoisting works, standing out like spectres in the smoke, every great arm stopped, every mighty wheel still. There are many sick in the city, and many touching sights were witnessed amid the storm of fire this morning.

A babe born yesterday, with its helpless mother, were carried for a mile to a place of safety. The scene from the heights West of the city at 9 A. M. was most terrible. Hotels, churches, mills, hoisting works, both newspaper offices, the opera house, business houses and residences innumerable were but a sea of fire, while the wind blew a gale and sometimes in whirlwinds. Explosion followed explosion in rapid succession until the mountain side seemed a veritable pandemonium. Many buildings were blown up, but on the East and North nothing stopped or checked the flames until there was no more for them to feed upon. The fire is now safely under control. It is said the Enterprise newspaper will be issued as usual to-morrow morning from the Gold Hill News office, and probably the Chronicle will also resume soon, though it looks now as if the people generally were about bankrupt, and it will take a long time for the city to recover from the disaster. The only portion of the city saved is that from Wells, Fargo & Co. South, which includes the works of the Gould & Curry, Savage, Hale & Norcross and Chollar mines, but these works are just now working but few men, on account of water in the mines. The Andes works were on fire at one time, but were saved. From the outlook now it seems absolutely necessary for four or five thousand destitute people to find homes for the Winter outside of Virginia City, for really almost all that was this morning of Virginia City is now but a ruin. Many tenders of hospitality have come from Gold Hill, Silver City and Carson, and a train with food and bedding is on the way now from Carson. In a single sentence, we are in the midst of a calamity so fearful that the strongest minds cannot yet realize its dreadful magnitude.

EASTERN NEWS.

A Railroad's Losses.

NEW YORK, October 26th.—At the meeting of stockholders of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company held to-day to receive the report of the committee appointed to confer with the President of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, as the result of their investigation the committee reports that the Atlantic and Pacific are losers by the Pacific Railroad of Missouri during three years and three months to the amount of $474,712, and are its creditors to the amount of $120,723,723. The Atlantic and Pacific hold assets of the Missouri Pacific amounting to $1,854,000 in third mortgage bonds, and $10,000 in Carondelet Ferry stock. The whole embarrassments of the company have arisen from a falling off of earnings the last year. After discussion the report was accepted, and it was resolved to have a meeting of the holders of the different securities of the company to devise some plan of reorganization. The total deficit of the company is $602,755, without any provision for floating debt creditors.

YOUNG MEN

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of the great benefit ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to cure, or he will refund the money.
Weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and guarantees to cure. He would therefore say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stages remember you are approaching the last.
If you are bordering upon the last and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you persist in procrastinating the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of healing can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not de-pair work upon you. Your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill, or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.
Full course of treatment $25. Send money by Post Office Order or Express, with full description of case. Call, or address,
DR. A. B. SPINNEY,
No. 11 Kearny St., S. F.
